Would you change anything about this course? If so, what would you change?

- There were a lot of homework assignments that I did not think benefitted toward my learning. it seemed like busy work.
- i think you should do the writing one page essay because i personal doesn't learned anything so i think writhing one page essay reading a simple essay was not effective.
- Yes I would change the Sin and Syntax assignments.
- I would change the assignments that she gave because some of them weren't effective for me.
- Nothing.
- n/a
- the readings some are really useless, and some aren't interesting at all.
- The homework I would change the method of work from every night busy work to maybe a weeks worth of work due at a certain point everyday homework is a little confusing.
- I would change that the amount of course work this course requires. Some of the assignments are not necessary and did not really help in learning with new course material.
- I would like to change the fact of the three essays. It's a lot of pressure to write something perfect for a class. Especially the second one it was too close to colliding with a lot of midterms test.

- Overall, this course and professor were moderate. I would definitely change up some of the class assignments. There are too many and not very affective.
- Overall I did learn how to analyze essays, and critical think other people's essays. But I feel like I did in gain much in my own individual writing skills. Overall the class was okay and the teacher was excellent.
